

THE GATE KEEPER - From Hidden Places

Before dinosaurs walked the earth - 350 million years ago. A time before Australia broke away from the massive Gwandalanland. When the mountains of Antarctica stood higher than the Himalayas a giant river raged north for a thousand miles to deposit the sediment that formed this amazing stonescape. The royal gatekeeper, draped in weathered robes and, with a crown of stone, stands proud... Guarding the entrance to no mans land.

Choose a low tide and explore to the south of Little Avalon - Go prepared for rock hopping and be careful. The Gate Keeper looks directly north to Avalon Rune. For more info check www.fitzi.com.au
